

LOVE SONG AT THE END OF THE DAY

A Journey into Alzheimer's

This unexpectedly optimistic memoir is a testimony to living life to its fullest, written with compassion and humor. Throughout this “long song”—which only deepens as we move from diagnosis into daily living with Alzheimer's—we find remembrances of a sixty-two-year relationship in the everyday moments that weave through this work. It is ultimately a celebration of the human spirit, a bedside book for anyone who is connected to a sufferer from memory loss.

“Every once in a while a book is published which causes you to pause, catch your breath and consider the meaning of our lives as human beings. Muriel Weyl's book Love Song at the End of the Day: A Journey into Alzheimer's is one such a text. It is a story of human courage and a testimony to the human spirit, a spirit that transcends the everyday and offers hope to all that are touched by a life with Alzheimer's. Read this book, it may well change your life.”

Professor John Keady

Co-editor: Dementia: The International Journal of Social Research and Practice
(The University of Manchester, UK)

Muriel Weyl has led a varied professional life first as a coordinator of university student affairs, as a mid-life counselor, and as a medical administrator at Stony Brook University. She was one of the founders of the Mid-Suffolk chapter of the National Organization for Women and was hired by the US State Department to lecture women in the workforce on balancing careers and family life in Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Brazil and Chile. For over seventeen years, she has been actively involved in community arts development through the Greater Port Jefferson/Northern Brookhaven Arts Council, where she was chairperson for a six-year period. She is a member of Suffolk County's Committee on Cultural Affairs. She has been honored along with Betty Friedan for her contributions to the women's movement on Long Island and by Stony Brook University with a “Ray of Light” award for her role in community leadership. She has been writing as a member of Herstory Writers Workshop since she helped to bring it to the Stony Brook/Setauket area.

$14.95

Herstory Writers Workshop, Inc.
2539 Middle Country Rd. FL 2
Centereach, NY 11270
631-676-7395
www.herstorywriters.org

Muriel Weyl
LOVE SONG AT THE END OF THE DAY

LOVE SONG at the END OF THE DAY

A Journey into Alzheimer's

Muriel Weyl